for there is no king had any other first beginning for all men have one entrance into life . . .

the wisdom of solomon
in the apocrypha

we all have our likes and dislikes, it is the way we were brought up, we were taught to like one color and despise another or to type someone as evil because his hair is too long, we act and react without thinking, obliterating from our minds men's "common bond" so frequently overlooked.

though leaves are many,

william butler yeats (1865-1939)

a person's life-long journey of interaction with other people starts at the moment of birth. every man begins life in the same manner, with others of his own kind — and all men are of one kind, all are human but uniquely so. men differ in their goals and ambitions yet all are of one substance.

man, like snowflakes, all the same yet each unique. the snowflakes don't complain, they know their place. together they are beautiful, alone they melt away. so much like man are snowflakes, or at least like man's potential. each are beautiful in their uniqueness yet man sometimes tries to push his uniqueness too far. one snowflake design is just as beautiful as another, though some designs be more popular at times.

in appreciation

the people make the book, so it seems only fitting to dedicate it to them in appreciation for the work and cooperation they put into it. cooperation and understanding in picture retakes and resubmitting elusive copy are only two examples of the understanding needed to put out the book. for without this much-needed empathy and consideration, the staff is helpless, and thus unable to meet their goals as well as the goals expected by the students. so with sincere thanks, the 1972 bluestone is dedicated to the people.

women's recreation association

coordinated by miss mills, and led by president, debbie watkins, the w.r.a. is the unifying body which oversees intramurals, interest groups, varsity sports for women at madison. the purpose of the women's recreation association is to afford recreational opportunities for all students and to develop a high degree of sportsmanship, as well as an interest for participation in physical activities. the association sponsors intramurals in basketball, softball, volleyball, swimming, tennis, bowling, golf, badminton, ping pong, bridge, soccer, and flag football.

intramural basketball enjoyed an especially good response from the sororities. the teams used a five man ruling which demanded more skill and endurance on the part of the players. the tournament was set up on a double elimination basis.

alpha gamma delta and kappa delta tied for the 1972 women's intramural volleyball championship.

judo, or "the gentle way," is a new arrival to madison campus. it is a modern sport developed from certain phases of jujitsu. dianne moore led the group. the class is held on thursdays, and has enjoyed enthusiastic response from madison's female population.

pegasus

the purpose of the pegasus club is to advance skills in riding, hunting, and training of horses. major activities of the pegasus club include the madison college horse show which includes class and club intramurals, and the mock hunt that is to be held in the spring, and the all-day mountain trail riding clinic.

julia ulans, joan hadley, mary jo prestridge, valerie messner, chris wilk, kim overstreet, jill pierce, not pictured susan greene, marian babylon, kay padgett.

gymnastics

the goal of this year's gymnastics program is to create a group of gymnastic enthusiasts that will be the nucleus of an exhibition team for next year when we will have the use of godwin hall. the future goal of the club is to participate in men's and women's intercollegiate gymnastics. those who are interested in continuing their gymnastic skill development and those who wish to participate in gymnastics for the fun of it are invited to join.

men's athletic association

under the leadership of charles ballard (m.a.a. president) and coach babcock (head of men's intramurals) the men's athletic association provided a broad spectrum of athletic events in which every male student could participate. a vigorous expansion in intramural events from september until june kindled athletic spirit, competition and sportsmanship. 1401 men competed in the 6 fall sports. the purpose of the m.a.a. is to offer as many varied intramural activities as possible on a competitive basis to a growing male population on campus. the m.a.a. also hopes to promote spirit and good sportsmanship through involvement of madison's male population. this year's officers were charles c. ballard, president and houston hemp, vice president.

the studs captured the intramural football championship by their win over the day students 31-6. both teams compiled 8-0 records for the season. 42 students participated in the flag football program.

in intramural wrestling, eagle 4 and the studs tied for first place in team play. tim o'rouke won both the 125 and 129 pound weight classes.

eagle 5 defeated eagle 3 in a close game and emerged as intramural soccer champions, 2-1 score.

twenty-four teams participated in intramural basketball. they led the early season competition with a 3-0 record.

the m.a.a. presented a "spirit trophy" to 4th floor eagle for their enthusiastic support of the dukes basketball team.

dennis evans won the men's singles championship in intramural tennis by outscoring the defending champion bill thorne.

eagle 4 defeated eagle 5 to become the intramural volleyball champions.

volleyball team

madison college does have a volleyball team! five years ago it started out as an interested group of students participating in a few sport days. three years ago a schedule was arranged and has been playing competitively since then. for the past two years not many home games have been played due to the less than official size of the playing area. a good balanced schedule was planned of home and away games. as for the schedule this past year, the team had its ups and downs ending with a 10-8 season for the first team and a 6-10 season for the second team. the team was young with only one junior, sandy helsley, being also the key spiker. two seniors started the season, but had to leave to do student teaching. the second team was composed of a very enthusiastic group of freshmen who learned a lot about the game and are eager to go into a new season of competition.

cross country team

the 1971 cross country team was composed of six freshmen, johnnie phillips, bill fletcher, bill mahone, chris boswell, richard hillman, and chuck snyder. they compiled a 2-5 record while competing against varsity teams. during the season the school record for five miles and for the home course was broken on numerous occasions. on october 16, bill fletcher set a home course record for a madison runner with a time of 29:10. every one of the runners made great progress and in the state meet every man ran his best time, with both bill mahone and johnnie phillips breaking the old school record for 5 miles, 27:34. the outlook for the future is very good. all of this year's team members will be returning. we feel that this year's team established a firm foundation with their hard work, pride, and determination. winning cross country seasons are going to be built on this foundation.

"this great gang surprised everyone including myself," stated the energetic duke mentor. "during our pre-season workouts we coined the phrase "win in '71" as our motto, and I really believe we surpassed even our most prolific expectations.

not since the recent birth of the basketball program at madison college has there been as much optimism as there was this year. even though the dukes faced their toughest schedule ever, the optimism is generated by the return of seven lettermen — all with considerable experience. heading the returning cast was 6'4" gary butler, most valuable duke of 70-71, leading the team in scoring with 15.8 per game average and george toliver, top defensive player and also a capable scorer with 12.5 point per game average.

the madison women's swimming team nicknamed "gozoos" include 18 hard-working and enthusiastic girls under the fine coaching of mrs. martha o'donnell. the first meets of the season with randolph-macon, v.p.i., old dominion, and longwood have demonstrated the great ability of the swimmers and the team will be hard to beat for the remainder of the season. each season the team seems to get stronger due to the previous competitive experiences of the girls who try out. the divers, being underclassmen, are showing promising ability and will be strong on the boards next year. special events coming up for the women include the state meet at old dominion in march, and six girls may go to nationals. we have a strong team this season and with the new pool in godwin hall ready for use next year performances certainly are expected to be better.

baseball team

the duke nine enjoyed a fine year finishing a highly competitive schedule with 12 wins against 5 losses. key victories included a double-header over frostburg state, which finished 5th in the a.c.a.a. college division. other important wins came against mason-dixon conference winner hampden-sydney and powerful independent virginia commonwealth university. in all, madison defeated five teams which eventually went on to win their respective conferences. larry hunt (7-2, voted most valuable player) and rod findley (4-2) were the mainstays of the pitching staff, while jim sparling (.426), jim franklin (.368) and david snyder (.360) lead in the hitting department. the dukes show great promise for 1972 with all of their starters returning; however, the toughest schedule ever includes formidable opponents such as lynchburg, brockport state, and the university of virginia.

golf team

this year for the first time the women's golf team had a split season with matches in the fall and spring. highlights for the spring season included the two-day state tournament at longwood college and the invitational at the university of north carolina at greensboro.

the fall team, coached by martha o'donnell, won the golf matches with william and mary (11½ - ½), randolph madon (7 - 5), and sweetbriar (11 - 1) with their only losses to longwood (8 - 4) and hollins (6½ - 5½). it was a good year.

in their short four year history 1971 proved to be the golf team's best season. the team was even extended an invitation to the n.c.a.a. college' division national championship tourney in chico, california. this year the dukes will play an 18 match schedule including most 1971 opponents plus the university of virginia, george washington university and old dominion university. the state college tourney at hot springs will be the prime target in 1972 on the way to another hopefully good record and possible invitation to post season tourney play. the dukes placed third in the 1971 tournament at hot springs.

tennis team

growing from the intramural interest of last year, the fall tennis team became intercollegiate this year. under the guidance of miss naomi mills, the team in it's short season of a month met strong competition with three other women's college teams. these teams included mary baldwin where the score was 10-0, their win; randolf-macon, 10-2, and the final match with william and mary, score 10-0. the spring tennis team proved stronger with a 6-3 season. madison college was also the host to the first intercollegiate women's tennis tournament in virginia at which ten schools participated.

track and field

madison college will field its first inter-collegiate track team in the school's history during the 1972 winter and spring seasons. this season will bring a full varsity schedule against established track teams throughout this area. though this year's squad members have no college experience they have been practicing since early november in preparation for the season. whatever the outcome of the season record-wise, the members are confident that they are the beginning of a program that will be a credit to themselves and to their college.

cheerleaders

promotion of proper cheers and good sportsmanship is the specific purpose of the cheerleaders, this year the group went on the road with the teams as much as possible and they sponsored pep rallies and bonfires to raise spirit, to have good supporting crowds for the games was the goal of the cheerleaders. long hours of practice to perfection went into every cheer and the excitement became unified into spirited support under such competent direction. an important unit of a sports crowd are the cheerleader's who sometimes feel the same thrills, exuberation, and even depression that the players themselves feel.

panhellenic reaches out

one of panhellenic's major goals this year has been to reach out and get involved with more of the student body. during freshman orientation week, the greeks put on a reenactment of the greek sing presented last spring. information about sororities in general was made available at the panhellenic booth set up at the student union. throughout the year, panhellenic sponsors the christmas dance, a christmas party for all saturday adoption children and each sorority takes turns ushering at stratford plays. a cancer drive, "send a mouse to college" is held in the spring, and there is always available a list of girls for babysitting. the greek sing has now become an annual event during greek week, which is culminated by the greek dinner dance held at engleside. the annual scholarship trophy is awarded to the sorority with the highest average. the bernice varner scholarship is awarded annually to any student, male or female, who is a sophomore or junior with a 2.75 average, in the amount of $100. the goal of panhellenic is to bind all of the eight national sororities on campus together and to sponsor activities jointly with the interfraternity council.

as can be seen by the picture, one of our activities involved a large banquet featuring a thrilling karate demonstration. we have been actively researching employment for our fraternity members, have made steps toward open rush and expanded our committee to accomplish more extensive public relations, increased financial strength, and numerous social and service activities. the enthusiasm and cooperation has soared to a peak. united under ifc the fraternities compose the largest male organization on campus presenting social activities and adding to the image of madison college.

marcie guzzetta was elected the first interfraternity council sweetheart on feb. 2, 1972. marcie has been a world traveler visiting such far away places as hong kong, hawaii, and the philippine islands. among her many activities, she snow skis, plays tennis, and works as a model. she is devoting much of her time and efforts as a representative of the entire fraternity system. it is quite evident ifc has made an excellent choice.

gamma gamma, greek honor society, is formed on campus

last spring at the greek sing, j.d. bates, dianne walker, gerry bunting, sam robertson, paddy argenzio, and jim sheldrake were tapped as members of the greek honor society, gamma gamma. these people were chosen on the basis of outstanding service and hard work within the greek system.

alpha gamma delta has picnic at bridgewater school for retarded

the main focus of alpha gamma delta this year has been service. in addition to numerous social activities, the sorority devoted most of her time and effort to her national philanthropic project. easter seals for crippled children. to raise money for easter seals, each year the alpha gams sponsor faculty served dinner, wherein various members of the faculty dress up in the dining hall. students "vote" for their favorite professor by putting their contribution for easter seals in the container which bears that professor's name. in this way, the sisters combine fun with service. as a newly initiated project, the alpha gams also work with the children at the bridgewater school for the retarded.

phi mu sponsors hike for hope

phi mu and phi kappa beta worked together to bring christmas to some fifty salvation army children. phi mus dressed up as elves and the brothers and sisters played games with the children, making it a very enjoyable and worthwhile experience for all. the annual toy cart was presented to the children in rockingham hospital at christmas. sisters got together for a pledge party in the fall out at the college camp. other social activities included a halloween party and christmas party. phi mus involved not only the campus but the whole community when the sisters organized a twenty mile hike in april to raise money for their national service project, the u.s. hope. the money, which was raised with the help of local businessmen and campus donators, was used to sponsor doctors to send to the medical ship. the sisters also made stuffed animals to send to the sick children aboard hope. founders day was celebrated on march 4. phi mu is the second oldest fraternity in the nation, and this was her 120th birthday.

apo is the largest fraternity in the united states. chi gamma chapter on madison campus is very active in social service. among their many projects, the apo's sponsor a book lift, advise students at registration, check i.d.'s at both the wednesday and saturday night movies. they were named the official hosts of madison college. this entails giving tours to prospective students. the brothers put on mixers, one of which featured a band from d.c. and was held in may. taxi lift for madison students from the bus station to campus was another new service project initiated by apo.

bob ryder brought much pride to the fraternity when he won the national all american championship in archery. plans for an olympic qualification are in progress. although service constitutes a large part of apo's activities this is not all they do. this year apo joined ifc, won the spirit banner sponsored by ox, and plans for a fraternity house are in the making.

the student government association sponsors and initiates various activities and changes throughout the year under the headings of orientation week, meetings, elections, constitutional convention, committee activities, public relations, and new regulations. during orientation week, the sponsored events included the president's reception and dance, the coke party, talent show, mixer and book sale to help the new students feel less alienated in their new environment. elections are held every spring and fall and a constitutional convention was held in december. the interdorm council, which meets every other monday and comes under committee activities, sponsored open dorms and a campus wide trick-or treat. student government also sponsored a dormitory food drive in which each dorm supplied a basket of food to be donated to the city for distribution among the needy. it was also through the work of the s.g.a. that the new regulation of the extended curfew, the voluntary sign out and the new residence hall and dating center hours went into effect. all in all it was a very active year.

new to the madison college campus, campus gold is a coeducational service organization with a dual purpose open to all students, it is not only designed to provide service to areas in and around rockingham county and neighboring counties, but also to provide a means by which those students with experience in some form of scouting would still be able to identify with the national scouting movement.

in the past year projects have ranged from short terms to full time projects, some of which include: making halloween favors for rockingham memorial hospital, making christmas gifts for western state hospital, assisting at neighborhood scout meetings and having some members, both former scouts and non-scouts, being leaders for a scout troop in town.

another facet of the organization which cannot be overlooked in fun. the group is as wide open for fun activities as they are for service projects, with the hopes of many times combining the two. these activities could include anything from sitting around talking or singing to having a picnic or perhaps a weekend camping trip.

circle k

circle k, which was organized on madison college campus in september, 1971, is a service club affiliated with both circle k and kiwanis international. circle k emphasizes service work as illustrated by the range of work projects, including rural redevelopment. circle k is associated with the local welfare department. we have also had a multiple sclerosis fund-raising project in which we collected over $1470. circle k welcomes concerned individuals who have a desire to become involved.

board of visitors

madison's board of visitors consists of eleven men and women appointed by the governor of virginia. these people work with the president in making major administrative policies. problems arising between any of the board's four meetings a year are handled by an executive committee elected annually. in its years of existence the board of visitors has been continually updating and changing with the progress of the school.

president carrier

"... what a piece of work is a man! how noble in reason! how infinite in faculty! in form and moving how express and admirable! in action how like an angel! in apprehension how like a god! the beauty of the world! the paragon on animals! ... " hamlet III p. 65.

conferences, correspondence, meetings, lectures, and plans comprise just a few of the duties of the lecturer, administrator, and organizer who holds the office of president of madison college, president carrier rides a mini-bike on the soccer field, spends time with students in the dormitories and the student center, eats in the cafeteria, completes his duties, and finds time to be a father and husband to his family in hillcrest, the president desires the college to serve as a learning institution for the students and faculty while making those people involved in the school more humane through a liberal arts education. when asked what he would do with more time the president said he would like to spend more time in recreational and intellectual activities with the students and faculty. he also feels the importance of a liberal arts education is to provide the student with the opportunity he needs to fulfill himself as a person.

library services

the well staffed administrative office of library services aids students in locating needed information to see them through their courses, as all may have noticed with the exodus of workmen and renovation completed, the library has become more conducive to study.

bureau of teaching materials

the bureau of teaching materials, a part of the state department of education, provides the campus and the public schools in this region with motion picture films through its regional office located in the library. films listed but not available at the madison regional office can be ordered from other regional offices or from the state office in richmond. new films on subjects pertinent to the public school curriculum and the campus program are added during each school year; films are withdrawn from use when the content becomes outdated or the physical condition makes them no longer usable.

miss judith blankenburg;
director, bureau of teaching materials.

col. a.h. phillips business manager

business and finance office

a vital part of madison's growth is the business and finance office. this office has the job of budgeting the treasury, maintaining personnel records, operating the buildings and grounds, administering food services, overseeing the book store, post office and security force. the business manager also assists in the preparation of long range financial plans as well as supervising new buildings under construction and the remodeling of existing facilities.

you've come a long way, baby

as freshmen, the class of 1972 started their now completed four year journey toward graduation by pooling all their energies and resources in a successful class day celebration; as sophomores, they joined the ranks of helping new students through student counseling and participation in campus activities; as juniors, they continued in the goal of students — to learn — holding fast to their high hopes and ambitions; final preparations for graduation were made as seniors. the traditional senior banquet was held at the belle meade at which the announcement of who's who in american colleges and universities was made. culminating their activities, were the traditional senior class gift and participation in a mutual fund program set up by the alumni association, four good years, congratulations, '72.

school of education

the purpose of the school is to enrich the student's personality by invoking and sustaining a spirit of free inquiry directed to an understanding of the nature of the universe and man's role in it. the school of education follows these three goals: 1. to educate students for the several professions in the school, not merely by transmitting skills and knowledge, but by stimulating creativity, developing cognitive abilities, and encouraging the testing of hypotheses and the reinterpretation of human experience. 2. to offer graduate instruction and study, and to encourage study and research by both faculty and students. 3. to provide various kinds of public service through specialized knowledge and skills possessed by the faculty of the school.

one of the major activities of the education department has been a study designed to evaluate and to revise the professional educational sequence. the department is seeking to provide increased classroom experience for the approximately eight hundred education majors and to integrate classroom activity and experience of students. special efforts are also being conducted to provide participation for experience for students at the junior level. in the summer of 1971 approximately 500 teachers in fairfax county participated in a workshop on the open-school concept sponsored by madison college. increased emphasis is also being placed on research activities. current research activities include a follow-up study of 1970 graduates and a study of approaches to the utilization of educational technology. several staff members are working with secondary school teachers in a project designed to promote the utilization of newer approaches to social studies instruction.

the humanities are those studies which make people more humane. at madison, in addition to the study of literature, (english, american, french, spanish, german, latin, russian), comparative literature, philosophy and religion, in all of which the great human questions are considered and values discriminated, there is emphasis on the arts of painting, sculpture, ceramics, weaving, and the performing arts of music (instrumental and vocal), drama in all of its forms, broadcasting, forensics, and public address and debate. various programs are offered including a major in the classical interdisciplinary studies; an interdisciplinary television course in classical mythology as it appears in literature, art and music; foreign travel-study programs in spanish and french civilization during the summer for college credit; participation in programs in sino-soviet studies; an honors program; and a special studies program. degrees of b.a., b. mus. in ed., m.a. in ed. are offered by the school. faculty members are engaged in publication and research in the areas of english anthologies, henry james, w.d. howells, james branch cabell, and others; as well as in creative writing.

english department

nine new faculty members joined the department this year. the program offered by the department is designed to prepare the students for graduate study, teaching, and many professions in which skillful use of language is important. the program also offers an appreciation of the literary heritage of the western civilization. through the study of the humanistic values expressed in literary masterpieces the student may better understand himself.

the class of 1973 — friends forever

nancy gory, legislative vice-president; becky payne, parliamentarian; joanne moore, secretary; fern dickman, historian reporter; peggy gillette, social vice-president; phyllis hottle, treasurer; gary hancock, president.

with "friends" as this year's theme, the class of 1973 worked together on both traditional and non-traditional junior activities. in keeping with their traditional duties, the class planned the class banquet and ring dance, distributed rings, sold beanies to freshmen, selected outstanding juniors, and appointed junior marshals. in addition to these activities, the class also sponsored a "spook show" for halloween and a poster sale making their third year at madison very eventful.

class of '75 adjust to new life

one of the main goals of the members of the freshman class was to overcome the pressures of college life by being an active part of their class while sustaining their own individuality. to increase understanding and friendship among its members the class sponsored several movies throughout the year including "mad dogs" and englishmen," and a coffee house during the month of december. highlighting the year was their class weekend with the theme "happiness through togetherness." activities for the weekend included the traditional banquet and semiformal dance as well as a not so traditional camping trip.

class sponsors: mr. hallman and mr. priest

freshman class officers: debbie ensor, sports leader; cecilia gray, treasurer; kevin alston, parliamentarian; jerry davis, president; carolyn griggs, historian-reporter; marin stevens, vice-president; jan burke, secretary.

after the unexpected warm weather of the past week, i can again see the many differences in the individuals of madison college. this year's bluestone is for people, all people. as editor, i can only hope that you will enjoy and cherish the book, and that it will bring you memories of the many people encountered in your college career. for me the book has meant laughs and tears, dedication and determination, and a lot of work. for you it might be the inconvenience of picture retakes or late proofs. underneath all the frustration i have enjoyed the work in a special way, as only a yearbook person can.

many thanks go to jim ellis of hunter publishing company for his unending patience and guidance. victor o'neill studios deserve thanks for cooperation in last-minute rushes. most of all, my staff worked without food or sleep for many long and seemingly endless nights, especially laura and terry. a special thanks goes to herbie for the majority of the candid photography, and to twig and dr. henderson for other photographic work. much credit is given to my special answering service and all the other people in converse who have made this an extra good year. i hope that you will love and enjoy this book as much as we have loved it while working on it.
